

CIVIC ENGAGEMENT (CENG)

CENG 2095 Civic Engagement Practicum (3 Credits)

The Civic Engagement Practicum is a three-credit course designed to give those interested in the civic engagement certificate a hands-on experience with civic activity either on campus or in their community. It also requires a reflection of that experience and a way to tie together the courses required for the program. The student will be required to perform a minimum of 80 hours of field work in this course or the equivalent in projects, assignments, research work, and/or campus civic engagement activities in a manner that is individually tailored to meet appropriate academic, personal, and career goals.

Corequisite: At least 9 credits in the civic engagement program of study.
